Opens Premiere PART Season

'Butterflies Are Free' To Begin

"Butterflies Are Free," a delightfully warm comedy by Leonard Gershe, will be the show that opens the premiere season of the Purchase Area Repertory Theatre (PART) at Murray State University on Thursday, June 14.

One of three productions to play on weekends this summer in the air-conditioned University Theatre of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center, the show will also play on June 15-16 and June 21-23.

"Butterflies Are Free" is the funny story of a young man who has left a domineering mother to seek his fortune alone in New York City. She is taken aback when she finds him living in a loft apartment. The son, Don Baker, has become friendly with a spaced-out and hip girl, Jill Tanner, who is trying to make it as an actress.

Playing the Don Baker role will be

David Davis of Owensboro, a senior theatre arts major who is also the designer for the three-show summer season of PART. He has been seen in several productions of the University Theatre, including the lead role of Littlechap in the musical "Stop The World I Want To Get Off."

As the mother, Elaine Bass of Memphis, a senior speech and theatre major, also brings performing experience to her role. She was last seen on the university stage in a one-woman show entitled "An Evening with Fanny Brice," which she researched and wrote.

Carla Horton of Murray is making her stage debut as Jill Tanner. She has been active on the campus as a member of the forensics union and the Lakeland Interpreters, which she serves as presiding officer.

Rounding out the cast is William Harle of Brecksville, Ohio, who plays Ralph Austin, an off-Broadway director who is instrumental in casting Jill Tanner in a show he is directing. Harle, a sophomore speech and theatre major, is a member of Sock and Buskin, the campus drama club. He played the lead role in the Children's Theatre production of "Many Moons."

Other PART shows to play this summer are "Star Spangled Girl" July 5-6-7 and July 12-13-14 and "Goodbye Charlie" to play July 19-20-21 and July 26-27-28.

Tickets for "Butterflies Are Free" can be obtained by calling the box office at 767-6797 or by visiting the box office on the ground floor of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center at Murray State.

Glendale Road Discussed

Council Okays Change In Personnel Code, 1 Ward

Ordinances establishing only one voting ward for Murray Common Council elections and changing the city's personnel manual to allow the mayor to hire non-supervisory personnel on the recommendation of department heads were among the items handled by the city council at its meeting here Thursday night.

The council also discussed the status of Glendale Road and were advised by Mayor Melvin B. Henley that the state Bureau of Highways had indicated that additional rights-of-way would be required from property owners on the west side of a proposed three-lane extension of the street.

The mayor's statement marked the first time that a need for rights-of-way acquisitions other than a parcel owned by Howard Brandon, on the east side of the extension had been revealed.

The proposed extension would connect S. 12th Street (U.S. 641) and S. 4th Street (Ky. 121) and has been the topic of much discussion at council meetings and public hearings over the past 2½ years.

The council directed City Planner Steve Zea to call a meeting with the property owners involved to explain the proposal and to discuss the additional needed rights-of-way.

Mayor Henley told the council that the first he knew of the additional needed rights-of-way was when the final plans were received from the state earlier this year.

"I assume the state did not know we needed this additional right-of-way until they completed the plans," Henley said.

The city is currently entangled in a court battle with Brandon over an agreement in which he agreed to deed his portion of the right-of-way to the city. Brandon contends his agreement was only for the construction of a four-lane road, not the three-lane road now proposed and he withdrew the agreement in late 1977.

The city has filed suit in Calloway County Circuit Court in an attempt to get Brandon to honor the agreement.

The meeting with the other property owners who will be involved in right-of-way acquisitions should be scheduled in the very near future.

Gov. Julian Carroll has notified Mayor Henley that he has set aside $109,000 from his contingency fund to pay the city's share of the project. Concern has been expressed that if the city does not definitely commit to the project before Carroll leaves office at the end of this year, the funds may be lost.

Also Thursday, the council directed the Murray Planning Commission to study the portion of city's zoning ordinance dealing with the location of mobile homes within the city.

City planner Zea had revealed at a recent meeting of the commission that 137 mobile homes, by his count, were currently in violation of the ordinance, which prohibits mobile homes in the city unless they are located in a state approved mobile home park or unless a variance is granted by the board of zoning adjustment.

Some citizens have registered complaints that the ordinance is being inconsistently enforced. Robert Walker, who is the executor of an estate that controls a lot on N. 4th Street on which mobile homes have been located in the past, asked the council last night to investigate the situation.

Walker told the council that the city had recently forced a tenant to whom he had rented a space on the lot to move his mobile home, citing the restriction in the ordinance.

The vote on the change in the personnel ordinance — which was enacted on a 6-5 vote — followed several minutes of discussion.

Council member Martha Sammons said she didn't think the change was wise.

"Frankly, it puts the mayor in a position to use city jobs for favors," Mrs. Sammons said, adding that she did not intend the comment as a personal reflection on Mayor Henley.

"I would say that any mayor or superintendent that uses it for political reasons is a fool," Henley said.

Mayor Henley was asked by councilman Howard Koenen if the current ordinance had posed any problems for the city and if not, why was it being changed.

"Because apparently we haven't been following the ordinance," Henley said, indicating that in many cases, department heads have been hiring employees without council action which is in conflict with the ordinance.

"We're changing the ordinance to agree with what we've been doing," councilman Marshall Jones said.

Voting in favor of the ordinance were J. D. Outland, Dave Willis, C. C. Lowry, W. R. Furches, Jones and Dick George. Opposed to the change were Koenen, Billy Balentine, Ruby Hale, J. H. Nix and Mrs. Sammons. Councilman Steve Yarbrough was absent.

The ordinance establishing only one ward in the city also was enacted on a split vote with Sammons, Koenen, Balentine and Willis against the measure and Outland, Lowry, Furches, Jones, George, Hale and Nix in favor.

Farm Bureau Director Discusses Inflation At News Seminar Meet

Issues affecting farmers, primarily inflation, were discussed by Vernie Glasson at the Annual Kentucky Farm Bureau News Seminar Thursday night at the Gilbertsville Holiday Inn.

Glasson, the newly designated national affairs director of the American Farm Bureau Federation and a Congressional representative on farm matters, said that the rising cost of agricultural equipment and supplies is the number one problem with farmers.

He added that the bureau supports the balanced budget concept. Getting control of government spending, according to Glasson, also would be a prime source of fighting inflation.

Glasson, formerly of the Texas Farm Bureau, said that government limitations could help bring a balanced budget. The only other way to have a balanced budget, Glasson said, would be to raise taxes. He stated that he felt this would add to farmers' problems, along with everyone else.

A bill, worked on by a committee that included farm bureau members supporting both a balanced budget and limitation of government spending, was introduced into Congress about a month ago by Pennsylvania Senator John Hines, Glasson said.

President Carter's plan gasoline rationing was not supported by the federal bureau because, according to Glasson, "we did not feel the plan was clear or well spelled out."

Glasson said that support has been given to the production of gasoline and other alternative energy sources.

Several amendments to the 1977 Omnibus Farm Bill now are pending in Congress, Glasson said. They include a seven percent increase of target prices to farm commodities and a system to maintain minimum dairy prices.

The House Ways and Means Committee is reviewing a revised meat importation bill. President Carter vetoed the bill last year, Glasson said. The new bill will try to help an increase in quota as production increases, Glasson added.

The bureau's News Writer Award was presented to Mona Sue Gordon of the Mount Sterling Advocate.

Expansion Planned For MSU Vet Center

A $1.7 million expansion program is planned for Murray State University's Veterinary Diagnostic and Research Center in Hopkinsville, according to Dr. Marshall Gordon, MSU vice president for university services.

The two-year expansion project, which will add some 19,000 square feet to the center, will nearly double the size of the facility.

Gordon told the center's advisory board at a meeting at Hopkinsville Thursday that 20 percent of the $2.7 million allocated for the center and related projects would be held in a contingency fund, with another $400,000 earmarked for conversion of Murray's Carman Pavilion into a veterinary laboratory. Funds for the expansion were committed in the budget for the 1979 fiscal year.

The primary purpose of the Hopkinsville expansion, which will be completed in about two years, will be to increase the diagnostic capability of the center. However, some new facilities will be used for applied research in food animal diseases, according to Gordon.

Anonymous Adult Reading Program Set

A free Adult Anonymous Reading Program for adults in the Murray-Calloway County area who cannot read or who have difficulty reading is being planned this summer by the Adult Learning Center at Murray State University.

To begin July 9, classes in the program will meet from 6 to 9 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays through Sept. 27 at the First United Methodist Church in Murray. All books and materials are furnished.

Chuck Guthrie, director of the Adult Learning Center, said the program is open to adults 16 years of age or older not enrolled in a public school who need reading help. He added that the program will be limited to 10 students and that each student will have a volunteer tutor.

Tutors must be at least 18 years old, be a high school graduate or have a high school equivalency, and be willing to attend a training session from 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday, June 25.

Persons interested in working as volunteer tutors should call 762-6971 or visit the Adult Learning Center in Room 206 of Roy Stewart Stadium. Guthrie urged them to apply to serve as tutors as soon as possible.

He said the 10 students will be accepted into the program on a first-come, first-served basis. Guthrie emphasized that they will work with fellow students, tutors, and members of the Adult Learning Center staff on a confidential basis.

Mr. and Mrs. Corwin attend St. Leo's Catholic Church. They have one daughter, Mrs. William C. (Mildred) Nall of Murray, and two sons, Dennis Norman Corwin of San Francisco, Calif., and Robert F. Corwin of Manhattan Beach, Calif.

A Guided Tour Of Lover's Ghetto

DEAR ABBY: A mother asked you to please write something to persuade her pretty, intelligent, 23-year-old daughter to end her love affair with a married man. You wisely told her that any advice from you would probably be useless, but perhaps a word from someone who had been down that road might help.

Well, I've been there. May I try?

Dear Pretty, Intelligent and 23:
I, too, was young, pretty and intelligent when I fell in love with my married man. We were madly in love and talked of being married "someday." We were together whenever possible. And always discreet. Before I knew it, years had gone by. Then I pressured him for some kind of commitment. That's when he told me he could never leave his wife and family and I'd be better off with a man who was marriageable.

Facing rejection from the man I had loved for so many years was almost too much to bear. Not to mention the broken dates, the secrecy, the hiding, never being able to share one holiday with him. Working with him and not being able to tell anyone about "us" because of his respected position in his profession and the community. But the greatest humiliation of all was having him leave our bed after lovemaking to go home to his wife because our time was up. While I was involved with this man I had no social life because I wanted to be home in case he called to say he could see me for an hour. I didn't keep up friendships with others—or even my family, so now I am having trouble rebuilding my life.

And I'm now too old to have the children I've always wanted.

Please, stop and consider where this dead-end relationship is going. Don't cut yourself off from others to concentrate on your married man. And if you're not strong enough to break it off now, think about it, and break it off the moment you get the strength to do so.

And don't be too hard on yourself. Given the right time, and set of circumstances, any woman can find herself entangled in a relationship she would never have chosen had she listened to her head instead of her heart.

SADDER BUT WISER

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be 30 next month and maybe I'm a sentimental slob for celebrating birthdays at my age, but I want this one to be special.

I would like to invite my friends to have dinner with me at my favorite restaurant, and then go dancing afterwards. My problem is I can't afford such an expensive evening.

Would it be socially acceptable to invite my friends to celebrate with me and pay for their own dinners and dancing? If so, I could let them know that their participation would take the place of a birthday gift. (Or do you think that would be understood?)

Also, is the restaurant likely to give everyone separate checks if I explained the situation in advance.

BIRTHDAY BOY

DEAR B.B.: If you want to celebrate your birthday with friends, invite them to your home (however humble) for coffee, cake, drinks, or whatever you can afford. Under no circumstances should you invite friends for an evening of dinner and dancing at their own expense. And don't mention gifts.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fingernails grow immediately below the skin at the base. It requires three to six months to grow a new nail depending on your general health.
Some nail irregularities can be improved by eating a balanced diet, but others such as horizontal ridges are usually caused by rough treatment around the cuticle. Yellowing can be caused by smoking, medications, and sometimes by using nail enamel incorrectly.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 13-year-old girl and very much overweight. I've tried to diet. I start good but after a few weeks, I start eating. I have gone to exercise clubs and that failed. I've started to get interested in boys but they all want to be my friend. They never ask me out on a date. Please help me lose weight. I'm almost hopeless.

DEAR READER — You're not hopeless because you have the motivation to lose weight. You won't be the first girl who lost weight to improve her appearance so she could have a boyfriend. The only thing I would like to caution you about is not to overdo it.

You didn't tell me how much overweight you were or what your height and weight are. A lot of young girls get so excited about losing weight that they lose all sense of reality about whether they are or are not fat. This can end up with such persons literally starving themselves to the point of having serious medical problems. I don't want you to do that.

I will send you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, as a guide that you can use to provide you a balanced diet while you're losing weight. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Now I don't want you to stay on this diet indefinitely. You can use it five or six weeks at a time and then eat sensibly so that your weight stays stable for five or six weeks and then go back to it.

While controlling your calories, you should try to build up your physical activity as much as possible. That will help you use calories and actually improve your figure as well. Remember it's the constant, repetitive effort that helps. Crash diets or sudden weight loss can be dangerous. If you stick to this regularly day after day, month after month, you will achieve your goal. When you get a little older and boys are even more important to you, you can have an ideal figure.

It is important for people who have obesity problems to learn which foods they can eat when they're hungry that won't add a lot of calories to their system. High on this list are the leafy vegetables and carrots and kinds of foods that commonly go into salads. Don't add any calorie rich salad dressings to such a mixture. Popcorn is fine as long as it's not popped in a lot of fat and you don't add butter to it.

Learn to cut the foods out of your diet that contain lots of calories, specifically fat. There are nine calories per gram of fat and only four calories per gram of carbohydrate or protein.

Unfortunately, many of the so-called high protein foods contain lots of fat so you have to watch out for that. Any meat that you eat should be lean meat. Chicken breasts are excellent particularly if you remove the skin. What's left is a very low-fat, good protein food. Of course, you'll want to avoid the concentrated sweets, such as found in sugar and desserts.

If you develop a good eating pattern now that eliminates unnecessary calories and still provides all the basic nutrients that you need, you may develop a life style that will help prevent you from having obesity for the remainder of your life.

Welfare Reform

To say that the welfare system is a "mess," as politicians are wont to do, is an understatement. Presidents, governors and members of Congress try from time to time to simplify it, make it fairer and distribute the costs more equitably. A reform program advanced the other day by President Carter is the latest attempt.

We'll wait until all the details are in for a final judgement, but on the surface Carter's plan doesn't look half bad. It beats the $20 billion program he offered two years ago which, because of its huge cost, sank with barely a trace in Congress.

This one would cost an estimated $5.7 billion. That's quite a lot at a time when budget-cutting fever is high on Capitol Hill, so even this slimmed-down version may not get far.

But it's worth a close look by Congress. Among its good features is a provision that would establish a national benefit floor equal to 65 percent of the poverty level. The minimum for a family of four would be $4654 which hardly would put any welfare recipient in the three-martini lunch category.

The plan would broaden benefits to include two-parent families disrupted by husbands deserting them because some states won't provide benefits when an able-bodied man is in the home.

It also would provide cash instead of food stamps to the aged, blind and disabled who have difficulty handling stamps; create some 400,000 new public service jobs for recipients able to work but who can't find employment; increase the "tax credit" for the working poor; increase the federal share of welfare costs to relieve the burden on state and local governments; and attack fraud and waste by tightening administrative rules.

It seems likely that the poor, as the Bible says, will always be with us. Their care is a job for society as a whole, and the goal ought to be to do it as efficiently and as fairly as possible.

David Spares Saul's Life

Saul became the bitter enemy of David and resolved that he would slay him. In different places and by different methods Saul attempted to take his life, but each time David escaped and fled.

I Samuel 26:6-12

David was fully aware of Saul's intention of taking his life at the first opportunity, but he was never disposed to retaliate by slaying Saul. Instead, he repeatedly fled from Saul's reach. Finally Saul took 3,000 men with him and pursued David into the wilderness of Ziph where he was hiding from him. After planning a daring invasion of the camp of Saul, David asked for one of his men to accompany him, and Abishai volunteered to do so. Under the cover of darkness David and Abishai very quietly went behind the barricade and there they discovered that Saul, his bodyguard — Abner, and the others with him were fast asleep.

Concluding that this was a splendid opportunity to take the life of Saul, Abishai earnestly requested permission from David to murder his relentless and cruel enemy. David refused to grant the urgent request of Abishai, and interpreted the situation as being an excellent opportunity to prove that mercy should be demonstrated instead of violence. The natural thing would have been to accept the offer of Abishai to slay his bitter foe, but David refused to consent to an encroachment on God's prerogative of taking a human life, even though Saul had abused him unmercifully. He wanted to leave Saul to God's disposal in His own time and manner. Under no circumstances would he agree to harming one of "the Lord's anointed." Many today could avoid chastisement and personal regret if they would only use the good judgment which David exhibited in refraining from inflicting injury upon "the Lord's anointed." God alone has the right to dispose of "the Lord's anointed" and He is perfectly capable of doing so in the way that is right and at the time which is proper.

I Samuel 26:21-24

Upon awaking and discovering that on another occasion David had been in his presence and had refrained from taking his life, Saul confessed that he had "sinned" in his attitude toward and treatment of David, who had again demonstrated clemency toward him. Saul "played the fool" by becoming conceited, through ignoring his best friends, and by leaving God out of his life. Through doing these same things, of which Saul was guilty, many today are playing the part of a fool also, and when the time comes for them to reap the consequences thereof they will have to assume the responsibility therefor. God's obedient children can rest assured that He will bless and use them in His service, and that He will reward them for all the faithful service which they render for Him from the time of their entrance into His family until they go home to be with their Lord.

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 East Dayton Street, West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: My mother has had to rent or purchase certain items for use at home for my father, due to a recent accident he had. Will Medicare Part "B" help pay for a wheelchair, crutches, a hospital bed, orthopedic stockings and a walker? — H.W.

If the items are medically necessary and prescribed by the doctor, and the Medicare Part "B" deductible has been met, then Medicare will help to pay for or rent all those items except the orthopedic stockings.

For more information on other medical and health aids which Medicare will cover, we have available our guide to Medicare. To order, send $1.75 to Medicare Guidebook, 114 East Dayton St., W. Alexandria, Ohio 45381. This book is fully guaranteed for your satisfaction and can be returned for a full refund of the purchase price.

HEARTLINE: My father will be 64 years old next month. He is on Social Security. Lately his hearing has been deteriorating. We have been thinking about purchasing a hearing aid for him. Can you give us any advice on this? — S.C.

Effective selection of a hearing aid is something of a problem. In some cases, hearing loss can be corrected by medical treatment. In other instances, use of a properly selected hearing aid will improve a person's ability to hear. There are also cases in which neither medical treatment nor a hearing aid will help the individual hear better.

Since August 15, 1977, hearing aids may be sold only to people who have been examined by a licensed physician within six months before the aid is purchased. It is possible, however, for people 18 years of age and older to waive the requirement by signing a statement indicating they know why medical examination is advisable.

The Food and Drug Administration advises a person to try to find a dealer who will let him use or rent a hearing aid on a trial basis to make sure that the hearing aid will actually help to improve hearing. The FDA reports that the average price for a hearing aid is between $300 and $450. Since a hearing aid can be an expensive investment, we suggest you check with your doctor first. Your father's loss of hearing may be a symptom of another medical problem, or be something as minor as wax build-up in the ear. Your doctor may refer you to an ear specialist to make sure your loss of hearing can be improved with the use of a hearing aid.

HEARTLINE: My wife and I are 65 years old. We have been drawing Social Security for three years. We are planning to move to a state with a warmer climate. We have heard several times that Social Security benefits are different in each state. Is this true? Also, what do we do about a change of address for our benefits? — N.B.

Regular Social Security retirement, disability and survivors benefits do not vary from state to state, so the move will not effect the amount of your benefits. You will continue to receive the same benefits. You must notify your nearest Social Security office, as well as the post office, of your change of address. If you are using direct deposit of your benefits to your bank, then the bank usually handles the change of address.

Slowdown Could Mean Two Things

NEW YORK (AP) — The unprecedented slowdown in the repayment of consumer debt during April could mean two things: statistical error, or that borrowers are finding it difficult to meet repayment terms.

The possibility of error never can be fully discounted in dealing with numbers issued by the federal government, since most of them are massaged by seasonal adjustment factors, to make them "meaningful."

Still, the shortfall in repayments was so marked as to suggest that many borrowers are running into problems with their finances. In an over-extended budget, loan repayments understandably become tardy.

This does not automatically mean the onset of a slowdown, however, because in this unique economy of ours there is still money available for installment loans. That being so, the inevitable can be delayed.

An overextended borrower might, for example, simply renegotiate the loan that he is unable to repay. The technique, repaying by reborrowing, is common enough. Uncle Sam has used it for many years.

Eventually, however, neither borrower nor lender is willing to put up with such tactics. Lenders get tougher, borrowers more realistic. The latter realize there is no other way out but to cut back on lifestyle.

The April debt statistics suggest we are coming to that point, but that we are still one step away. Consumers added $25.8 billion to their debts. And their repayments slowed, to only $21.7 billion.

That repayment figure was $1.2 billion less than in May, the sharpest repayments decline on record. It seems to indicate that borrowers had a tough time repaying. And a tough time is prelude to a spending cutback.

One doesn't need to rely solely on government figures to reach that conclusion. Delinquencies have shown up in several credit areas, home mortgage loans excepted. And personal bankruptcies are rising again.

Anyone can extend the reasoning to the next step: A sharp spending cutback could catch sellers with too many goods for the lowered demand. Poor business, of course, means rising unemployment. And unemployment means difficulties in repaying loans.

In short, while a downturn could correct a lot of the economies current imbalances — price increases, high interest rates, an inflation psychology among them — it could raise the dickens too.

The problem facing officials is to bring about a correction without creating a cascade of disruptions. This has always been the problem with corrections, but this time the dimensions might be larger.

To begin with, the expansion has thrown interest rates, prices/expectations and other factors further out of line than in most recessions of the past few decades. And then there are the elections.

But rarely are solutions reached for purely economic reasons; in most instances politics are involved.

The dilemma for the Carter administration is whether to permit the economy to correct itself with a minimum of interference or to plunge into the battle with an array of political weapons.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, June 8, the 150th day of 1979. There are 206 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1965, U.S. troops in South Vietnam were authorized to engage in offensive operations for the first time.

On this date:

In 632, the prophet and founder of the Moslem religion, Mohammed, died in Medina.

In 1861, Tennessee seceded from the Union.

In 1905, President Theodore Roosevelt offered to act as a mediator in the Russo-Japanese War.

In 1942, during World War II, Japanese submarines shelled Sydney, Australia.

In 1953, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that restaurants in the District of Columbia could not refuse to serve Blacks.

In 1968, James Earl Ray, who was under indictment for the assassination of Martin Luther King, was arrested in London.

Ten years ago: the United States and Saudi Arabia signed an agreement to expand economic cooperation and strengthen military ties.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam were conferring on the Pacific island of Midway.

One year ago: the U.S. Senate ethics committee voted to investigate the conduct of two senators, Democrat Herman Talmadge of Georgia and Republican Edward Brooke of Massachusetts.

Today's birthdays: U.S. Supreme Court Justice Byron White is 62 years old. Management consultant John Diebold is 53. Painter Richard Pousette Dart is 63.

Thought for today: It is easy to be wise after the event — an English proverb.

It Is Not Good That Man Should Be Alone (Genesis 2:18)

God realized that man, by himself, was incomplete. Though Adam was provided with every earthly delight—he was still lonely. So God created a mate for him. As God instituted marriage, it was a sacred relationship of man and woman that was divine in origin.

As God conceived it, marriage transcended every other relationship, even man's duty to his parents. (Gen. 2:24) Thus, we need look no further than the scriptures for a guide to man's and woman's responsibilities in marriage. God created marriage for man's fulfillment and happiness—we need know no more than this.

Hard Work

That's What It Took To Make Pros Rich, Professes Kramer

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK — Jack Kramer is gripped by mixed emotions — pride, reser-boyish good looks, his clean-cut All-American image, unbridled enthusiasm and charm. Few men, if any, have left a finer legacy or greater Golfers are more mature when they begin. They aren't as accustomed to parental pampering. They are drilled to do the right things.

"In tennis, there seems to be too much of a premium on winning. Maybe it's because tennis players start so young and parents and coaches haven't done their jobs properly. This raises the temptation to cheat. The kid is afraid to come home and tell his mother he got beat."

When Jack was 14, he got sore after being called for a foot fault and threw his racket over the fence while uttering an epithet. "My father came out on the court and said, 'That's all, Cocky — let's go home.' I never forgot it."

Kramer said he hoped young John McEnroe would shun the so-called "color syndrome," typified by the volatile Ilie Nastase and Jimmy Connors, and become an example for all the youngsters coming up in the game.

"I hope he will play more like (Bjorn) Borg. This way he could turn it all around. Young kids would look at him and say, 'I want to play like McEnroe. I want to act like McEnroe.'"

"The same is true in the case of Tracy Austin among the women. These youngsters carry a great burden on their shoulders."

"...there seems to be too much of a premium on winning. The kid is afraid to come home and tell his mother he got beat."

Jack Kramer

vation, concern — when he views the explosion of big time tennis.

"It's the fruition of what a lot of people worked for down through the years — Tilden, Vines, Perry, Budge, Riggs and, if you'll excuse me, myself," said the one-time king of the courts. "Now we have to be careful we don't blow it."

Kramer, of Los Angeles, former world champion, tour promoter, administrator and spearhead in the move to open tennis, was in New York Thursday to be inducted into the Madison Square Garden Hall of Fame.

He took time out to put in a few promotional licks for his new book, "The Game: My Forty Years of Tennis," co-authored with Frank DeFord.

"Big Jake" is now 57, going on 27. He has lost none of his impact on the game.

"Tennis players today have gained equal stature with the athletes of every other major sport — football, baseball, basketball, golf and hockey," he said. "Prize money and endorsements run to more than $1 million a year in some cases. They are given prime spots on TV. They are lionized by the fans."

"As such, they must not overlook the fact that they have a responsibility. They can't take it all with them. They have to leave something for the next generation."

Kramer is disturbed that the modern professional tennis player too often assumes the role of "spoiled brat" — surly, undisciplined, at times even boorish and profane.

"Not all of them, certainly," Kramer said. "But as a body they have much to learn from their counterparts in golf."

Nicklaus, Decade's Top Athlete, Maintains Stand

By the Associated Press
NEW YORK — Maintaining for the umpteenth time his opinion that golfers are indeed athletes, Jack Nicklaus has accepted a trophy as the Athlete of the Decade.

Nicklaus, the second winner of the award, told a black-tie audience at the Waldorf-Astoria that he was "honored and humbled," and refused to subscribe to the suggestion made by some critics that golfers cannot be identified as athletes.

The "Golden Bear" won by a sizeable margin over such stiff competition as baseball's Rod Carew, football's O.J. Simpson, hockey's Bobby Orr, basketball's Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, tennis' Jimmy Connors and Chris Evert, Olympians Bruce Jenner and Mark Spitz and jockey Willie Shoemaker. Muhammad Ali, last year's winner, was not eligible to repeat in the poll of sportswriters and broadcasters.

The athlete of the decade award will be given by the American Cancer Society each year.

"Comparing golfers with athletes of other sports is like comparing apples and oranges," said the golden-haired native of Columbus, Ohio. "Even in baseball you can't compare a pitcher with a hitter, in football a passer with a runner."

"But I certainly consider golfers athletes. There is no physical abuse. The sport calls for a different kind of training. But it requires a lot of endurance, work, mental strain and sacrifice."

Nicklaus said that golf was as demanding as other big time sports in time and dedication needed for refining skills and competing.

"Golfers don't play 2½ hours once a week as football players do, or three hours five or six times a week as baseball players," he said. "They play four hours a day for four days. They train hard, practice before and sometimes after each round."

"Unlike tennis and boxing, which are one on one, golf is one against 140 other guys plus a golf course. The concentration has to be intense. You have to make the body do what the mind wants it to do."

"I've seen outstanding players of other sports be completely whipped after a round of golf. Sure, golfers are athletes."

Nicklaus said his physical skills are as sharp as any time in his long career and good for another 10 years.

"I am hitting the ball better than ever," added the 39-year-old Nicklaus. "If my game has deteriorated at all — and I am sure it has — it is in another area — the area of desire and dedication.

"But I am positive I can still win. If I didn't, I would not continue."

Nicklaus has played in eight tournaments this season without a victory. Yet his 18-year record includes 66 tour triumphs, 17 major championships and more than $3.3 million in prize earnings.

Golf historians regard his 17 major titles, four more than won by the late Bob Jones, a mark that likely is never to be equalled.

Fullerton Gains Series Final

By CHUCK SCHOFFNER
AP Sports Writer

OMAHA, Neb. — When Fullerton State Coach Augie Garrido said his team's game with Pepperdine in the College World Series would be a "dogfight," he wasn't kidding.

That's exactly what took place Thursday night. When the dust finally cleared after 3½ hours of baseball, there had been 24 hits, two players and a coach ejected, two records tied and most important, Fullerton had an 8-5 victory.

The triumph puts the Titans, 59-14, and rated third nationally, in tonight's championship game against seventh-rated Arkansas, 49-14, which had the night off. It will be a rematch of a game Wednesday night, when Fullerton outslugged the Razorbacks 13-10 to stay alive in the double elimination tournament.

The Yanks' Fred Jones (left) scored on a passed ball in the third inning of last night's Kentucky League baseball game as the Astros' Wayne Caldwell prepared to take the throw. (results, page 8).

The Bird...Finally

Celtics' Nest Egg Deemed Enough

By DICK BRAUDE
AP Sports Writer

BOSTON — Larry Bird's signature on a five-year, $3.25 million National Basketball Association contract today caps the Boston Celtics' quest for the college star who will become the highest-paid rookie in sports history.

The Celtics called a 10 a.m. Boston Garden news conference and said Bird will be present. Signing the college player-of-the-year from Indiana State was viewed as a major step in rebuilding the once-dominant franchise.

Sources close to the negotiations pegged the annual worth of Bird's pact at $650,000, including salary and fringe benefits.

Lawyer Bob Woolf, Bird's agent in the often-bitter twomonth negotiations with Celtics President Red Auerbach, would say only: "It appears Larry will be a Celtic."

The Celtics, fearful of an 11th hour snag, declined to say anything. Bird has been at home in French Lick, Ind., throughout negotiations.

The settlement, in the works for several days, was a compromise.

Woolf originally sought more than $1 million per year when bargaining began April 10, but Auerbach countered with $500,000 per season. When Celtics owner Harry Mangurian intervened last week, the team hiked its bid to $600,000, with Woolf seeking $700,000.

The 6-foot-9 college star, who led his underdog team to the NCAA finals, apparently has beaten his rival Earvin "Magic" Johnson in the money grab, after failing to do so on the basketball court.

Michigan State and Johnson, who is turning pro as a hardship case, beat Indiana State in the NCAA tournament. Bird and Woolf were intent on signing for a richer contract than Johnson, whose pact with the Los Angeles Lakers reportedly is worth $600,000 per season in salary and real estate.

Oaks Invitational Is Now Accepting Entries

Entries are now available for the June 16-17 Oaks Country Club men's invitational golf tournament.

The entry fee is $30, which covers two rounds of golf, lunch both days and a practice round at any time next week. Golfers will be placed in one of five flights after the first day, and prizes will be awarded in longest-drive and closest-to-the-pin contests. $20 will cover the cost of a cart for both days.

Pandolfi Gains Lone Oak Spot; Dickens Named

Tom Pandolfi, a graduate assistant at Murray State and former Racer quarterback, was named head football coach at Lone Oak High School during the McCracken County school board meeting Wednesday night.

Pandolfi replaces Fred Gibson, who resigned to assume a coaching spot in Tennessee.

Mike Dickens, who quarterbacked Murray State for three seasons (1976-78), has joined the Racer staff as graduate assistant in charge of wide receivers, it was announced today.

Dickens accounted for 2,677 yards and 16 touchdowns during his stint with the Racers, including 227 pass completions in 485 attempts.

His best seasons were in 1976, when he threw for 1,190 yards and seven touchdowns. He scored 94 points rushing and passing during his college career.

Two Americans Remain In British

By the Associated Press
SOUTHPORT, England — The luck of the draw in the British Amateur Golf Championship means that for the first time in eight years two Americans may find themselves fighting it out the finals Saturday.

The only Americans left of the 23 who started in this year's tournament, Monday are Scott Hoch, 23, of Raleigh, N.C., and Jay Sigel, 34, of Philadelphia. But they are both in opposite halves of the draw, which completed five rounds Thursday.

Hoch beat Alan Ferguson of Britain 4 and 3 Thursday and maintained his 100 percent win record since arriving with the U.S. Walker Cup team a week ago.

Sigel beat fellow countryman Griff Moody 3 and 2 shortly after Moody had played a grueling fourth round match against Wayne Player of South Africa that went to the 20th hole.

The other six who won through to the quarterfinals are Brian Marchbank, Ian Bradshaw and Stuart Robson of Britain, Australian Tony Gresham, Lakshman Singh of India and Doug Roxbrough of Canada.

Bradshaw beat Keith MacIntosh of Britain 5 and 3; Marchbank beat Stephen Andrews of Britain 2 and 1; Gresham beat Martin Walls of Britain 5 and 3; Robson beat Doug Fischesser, United States, 1 up; Sing beat Steven Cipa of Britain, 6 and 5; and Roxbrough beat David Whelan of Britain on the 20th hole.

Lye's Sparkling 63 Brings Lead

ATLANTA — Mark Lye shot a 9-under-par 63 and established a 4-stroke lead in the weather-delayed first round of the $300,000 Atlanta Golf Classic. His effort was within a single stroke of the record on the Atlanta Country Club course.

Jockeys Fight Mars Preparation For Belmont Race

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Spectacular Bid's trainer, Bud Delp, heard someone behind him greet a friend.

"Hello, slugger," the man said. Delp quickly looked over his shoulder and smiled.

"Slugger? Who's the fighter around here? I thought that Franklin was standing behind me," Delp said.

Delp's light-hearted reference was to a scuffle between Spectacular Bid's jockey, Ronnie Franklin, and rival jockey Angel Cordero Jr. in the jockey room at Belmont Wednesday.

Franklin's reference to the scuffle was less light-hearted on Thursday morning.

The fisticuffs took place after the fourth race at Belmont Wednesday. Films of the start of the race showed that Cordero's mount, Ski Pats, cut sharply into Franklin's mount, Lorine, forcing Franklin to stand up in the saddle and check his mount.

"I guess he tried to drop me," Franklin said of Cordero. "When I got to the (jockey) room, I walked up to him and he took a swing at me."

"I think I hit him a couple of times. I don't think he hit me," said Franklin, who will ride Spectacular Bid in Saturday's Belmont Stakes. Asked if after blasting his 10th and 11th home runs of the season Thursday night, leading the Red Sox to a 9-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Last year, Rice slammed 13 homers in the month of May alone and ended up the season with 46, tops in the majors. He also led the major leagues in total bases with 406, slugging percentage with .600 and runs batted in.

"The two pitches I hit for homers tonight were outside the strike zone," Rice said. "The first was high and in, the second low and away. But you've got to swing at something, so I swung."

In other AL games in an abbreviated schedule, Texas clobbered Milwaukee 7-1, Minnesota stopped the New York Yankees 4-1 and Baltimore edged Kansas City 3-1.

"I compare him with Willie Mays," Chicago Manager Don Kessinger said of Rice. "He's just a great hitter."

The American League Most Valuable Player last year, Rice ignited a three-run fourth inning with his first homer, a tremendous drive off Chicago pitcher Ken Kravec, 6-4, over the screen beyond the high wall in left center.

Then, leading off the seventh, Rice unloaded against reliever Rich Hinton, lining a shot into the Boston bullpen in right center. He drove in a third run with an infield hit in the eighth.

Rookie Chuck Rainey, 4-3, got the victory as Dwight Evans added four singles to Boston's 17-hit attack.

Orioles 3, Royals 1

Gary Roenicke's bases-loaded single drove in two runs in the eighth inning, boosting Baltimore past Kansas City. Kansas City had taken the lead on Al Cowens' home run in the fifth inning. The Orioles tied the score in the bottom of the inning when Roenicke walked, took third on Eddie Murray's single and scored on a sacrifice fly by Doug DeCinces.

Rangers 7, Brewers 1

John Ellis slammed two home runs and a double, driving in six runs to back the twofit pitching of Ferguson Jenkins as Texas drubbed Milwaukee.

Ellis smashed a two-run opposite-field homer in the first inning, another two-run shot in the sixth and a two-run groundrule double in the eighth.

Jenkins gave up an infield single in the first inning and a triple to Jim Gantner leading off the Milwaukee seventh.

Texas' John Grubb extended his consecutive-game hitting streak to 20 with a ninth-inning single.

Twins 4, Yankees 1

Three pitchers combined to scatter eight New York hits and give Minnesota its victory over the Yankees.

Geoff Zahn, 4-1, started and won his first game since April 29 despite giving up a fifth-inning home run to Chris Chambliss. Mike Bacsik came on in the sixth and Mike Marshall relieved in the eighth to register his 13th save of the season.

Saviano Falls To James; Lloyd Moves In French

BECKENHAM, England — Australia's John James defeated Nick Saviano 6-3, 7-6 in the men's quarter-finals and South African Yvonne Vermaak downed Lea Antonopolis 6-2, 2-6, 6-3 in a women's quarter-final match in the rain-shortened Beckenham-Grass Court Tennis Championships.

Tanya Harford of South Africa beat Britain's Michele Tyler 6-2, 6-3 in the only other match of the day.

HARTFORD, Conn. — Tournament sponsors announced that the annual World Cup tennis competition between the United States and Australia will end after the 1980 event.

PARIS — Chris Evert Lloyd of the United States and Wendy Turnbull of Australia gained the women's singles final of the French Open Tennis Championships.

From Grandmother's Day To Today

Life Changes For American Woman

By The Associated Press
According to The Associated Press' demographic profile, these are some of the ways life has changed for the American woman between grandmother's day and today.

Grandmother read more, went to the movies more, danced more and listened to the radio more than either her daughter or granddaughter did in their young years. She also played cards and parlor games more. In fact, in order of preference, those were her major leisure activities.

Her daughter's favorite leisure activity (measured in 1960) was television, something grandmother didn't have in 1938 when her preferences were measured. Daughter's second-favorite pastime was staying home with friends and third was a tie between visiting friends and reading. Listening to the radio became near zero, and dancing and movie-going were negligible.

Granddaughter's favorite pastime — nearly half — was television, measured in 1974. She read more than her mother but less than her grandmother. In fact, reading was her second favorite pastime. She also liked the movies more than her mother but considerably less than her grandmother. Otherwise, she liked to stay home with friends, visit friends, play cards and games, listen to the radio, and dance in that order.

Each polling group was in the 20 to 40 age cohort at the time questions were asked.

One reason, according to population experts: Young women — frequently inner-city poor — have easier access to birth-control methods but are reluctant to adopt them because such planned precautions seem to many of them to legitimize promiscuous behavior.

More young men and women live alone today than in the last six decades. Nearly 21 percent of today's households are people living alone, and although this reflects a sizable number of old people, it is triple what it was in grandmother's day. The number of households made up of families has declined from 92 percent in grandmother's day to just over 76 percent today. The number of people per household has declined steadily, as has the number per family unit.

Despite the advancement of women in commerce, industry and the professions, comparative statistics over the last 50 years provide certain strange anomalies.

Dr. Martina Horner, president of Radcliffe College, points out:

"In 1930, 45 percent of the professional work force were women. We are nowhere near any figure like that. In 1930, 32 percent of college administrators and professors were women. In 1960, that dropped to something like 19 percent nationwide. In 1900, 18 percent of the physicians in Boston were women. We didn't get up to that same number until 1970.

AP Business Writer
America's love affair with coffee, the nation's most popular hot beverage, is rapidly getting more expensive with the latest price increases likely to show up on grocery shelves within a month.

Major coffee roasters Thursday announced they are raising the wholesale price of ground coffee by 25 cents a pound to $2.83.

That's the second increase in five weeks. The first was a 15-cent boost. Wholesale coffee prices are now 16.5 percent higher than they were May 1.

Consumption of coffee dropped sharply as prices climbed to record heights in 1977. Americans began drinking more coffee last year as prices dropped, but the new round of increases threatens to once again force coffee drinkers to pass up that second cup.

While the latest increases likely will be passed along to consumers in some form, they could be hidden in higher prices for other food items since many supermarkets offer coffee as a loss-leader to attract customers.

Proctor & Gamble, the maker of the nation's best-selling brand of ground coffee, kicked off the latest round of price increases. It was quickly followed by Hills Brothers, MJB and Coca-Cola, which makes Butternut and Maryland Club coffees.

The only major holdout by today was General Foods, which is still the nation's largest roaster although its Maxwell House brand has slipped behind Folgers as the nation's most popular coffee. Proctor & Gamble said the increase was "made necessary by increases in green coffee prices, which have been rising since mid-February."

The latest increases follow two straight years of price cuts in coffee, which came after the wholesale price of coffee soared to $4.46 a pound in March 1977.

The major reason coffee prices reached those highs was a "killer frost" that destroyed millions of coffee trees in southern Brazil in 1975. Once again a Brazilian frost is getting much of the blame for higher prices.

The new frost struck Brazil last week, sending green coffee prices soaring on commodity exchanges even though the frost will affect next year's crop and have little, if any, impact on the crop now being harvested.

A firm estimate of the 1980 coffee crop won't be available until September, but the Brazilian government has sliced its estimate of the crop in Sao Paulo State, the largest coffee-growing region, by 30 percent. Brazil is the world's largest coffee exporter.

Estimates of future supply play a major role in the current price of green coffee, which is roasted to make the brown coffee purchased in stores. The price of green coffee has risen 43 percent since early February and was $1.84 a pound on Thursday.

Coffee consumption in the United States had been declining for years, but the sharp rise in prices in 1977 caused a big drop, from 9.7 pounds per person in 1976 to 6.9 pounds in 1977.

How To Attract Prowlers

It's easy.

Just decide to sell your own home without the help of a Realtor.

You'll have all kinds of people prowling everywhere. Around the clock. Just ask anyone willing to remember the time he tried to sell his own home. The stories are grizzly.

Until they get to the part where they threw in the towel and got some help from a professional Realtor. The way they'll talk about their Realtor will remind you of the cavalry saving homesteaders from the Indians.

A Realtor can save you too. Save you a lot of time and headaches. For a lot of good reasons. If you're thinking of selling your own home, maybe you should consider some of them.

What have you got to lose?

Without a Realtor, plenty.

Market demand, seasonality of sales, location and a dozen other factors can change your home's value overnight. A Realtor knows all about these things. He can make sure your asking price is right. And he can make sure you get it.

Do it yourself, and you'll probably ask too much. Or too little. Either way, you're going to wind up losing.

Strangers in the night

The minute you post your "For Sale by Owner" sign in the front yard, you're fair game for anyone passing by with a few minutes (or hours) to kill.

You'll meet them all. And in the oddest places. The sweet little old lady with the big shopping bag you run into rummaging through your garage. The guy in the T-shirt and brown bomber jacket you find under the porch checking for termites. And those people you never really get a good look at as they peer in the window during the late news.

But that's just the beginning. Wait until you decide you're not getting enough real prospects and put an ad in the paper.

Your feelings about the telephone will never be the same. You'll talk to people at all hours of the day and night.

Some of them will even show up. At all hours of the day and night.

A Realtor can solve these problems for you. He'll screen the prospects from the window-shoppers and just plain weirdos. He'll dig out their needs, desires and financial situation.

Best of all, though, he'll show your house only when it's convenient for you.

The games people play

So there you are. Hearty smile and firm handshake ready for the first buyer.

You're ready to handle anything. Like "Why, the stairs do creak a bit." Or "You'll certainly be taking those cheesy drapes with you, won't you?"

Well, maybe you are. And maybe you aren't. Why take a chance? Realtors are fully trained in the fine art of salesmanship. That includes turning an objection into an advantage. And a Realtor knows how to get the indecisive buyer to make up his mind. Realtors go to school to learn all about it.

Suddenly, your buyer makes an offer. Unfortunately, it's well below, far below, your asking price.

What do you do now? Get mad? Argue? Probably. It's the worst thing you could do.

Because you're the owner, you'll find it nearly impossible to negotiate with a buyer. Bargaining over price, terms and possession date is best done by a professional with an eye for details.

A Realtor is the go-between and advisor when he helps sell your home. He handles the negotiations. He'll look out for you and tell you to stick to your guns when you're right. And he'll tell you when the buyer is right, too.

Surgeons Complete 16-Hour Task Of Rejoining Girl's Severed Hand

NEW YORK (AP) — Surgeons completed a delicate 16-hour operation today to restore life to the severed right hand of a talented teenage musician who was pushed under a subway train amid a horrified crowd of rush-hour commuters.

Jane Ash, night administrator of Bellevue Hospital, said the operation ended at 2:30 a.m. She said the patient, 17-year-old Renee Katz, was awake and conscious at 6 a.m. and asked to see her parents.

Miss Ash said the girl told physicians she could not feel her hand yet, but the doctors who worked on the "microsurgery-implantation team" were optimistic the hand would regain some function.

The administrator quoted Services Planned, Episcopal Church

Morning Prayer services will be held at 9:45 on Sunday, June 10, at St. John's Episcopal Church, Main and Broad Streets, with the Rev. Stephen Davenport as vicar of the church.

Classes for nursery through sixth grade will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and for the youth from 5:30 to 9 p.m. each day, according to the church pastor, the Rev. Heyward Roberts.

For transportation or information, persons may call 753-3053.

the surgeons as saying Miss Katz will eventually be able to move her fingers, but it is unlikely that the wrist will bend.

She said the nurses on the case worked in shifts but the same surgical team led by Drs. William Shaw and Daniel Baker stayed on the job until the end. Earlier, doctors had reported that the hand was reattached and was "live with blood supply."

Miss Katz, a flutist and pianist with near perfect grades, was to graduate in two weeks from the city's prestigious High School of Music and Art in Harlem. She was on her way to the school and was waiting for a train at a midtown Manhattan station when a youth shoved her from behind, police said.

She fell to the tracks just as a train pulled into the station, and it struck her at a speed of 20 miles an hour, officials said.

It was the latest of several such incidents in the city. Authorities said they were looking for the youth, who fled after pushing Miss Katz.

Motorman Justo Barreiro said he leaped from his cab, ran to where Miss Katz was pinned under the second car of the train, and tried to "calm her down."

"She was screaming, 'Mother, Mother, I've got to go to college,'" the motorman said.

Her brother Robert said the girl, described as a "brilliant student" by officials of her high school, had been accepted for a special joint program at Tufts University in Medford, Mass., and the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston next fall.

Barreiro said the girl, "didn't jump, she didn't slip; she was maliciously pushed." "He pushed her from behind," he said. "She didn't see it coming. She was just standing there on the south-bound platform."

"I was glad when I heard her screaming," the motorman added. "I knew she was alive."

Motorists Can Expect Higher Gas, More Stations Closing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky motorists that take to the highways this weekend will find still higher gasoline prices and a few more stations closed on Sunday.

According to the weekly fuel gauge survey by the Bluegrass and Louisville auto clubs, the number of stations that reported being out of one or more grades of gasoline dropped from 12 to 7 percent this week.

"Up until this crisis situation came along, it was basically a no lead... (SHORTAGE) PROBLEM," SAID Dave Stucker of the Louisville Automobile Club. "Now it seems like premium is catching up with no lead as far as shortages are concerned, and regular is a close second."

Compared with last weekend, 5 to 7 percent more of Kentucky's service stations said they would discontinue 24-hour and Sunday operations. That leaves 9 percent open all day, every day and 45 percent staying open on Sunday.

Twenty-eight percent of the stations said they would close by 6 p.m. Saturday, and 55 percent would close by 8 p.m. on weekdays, the survey showed.

Kentucky has roughly 2,400 service stations, according to the state Department of Energy.

Prices on all fuels continued to climb during the past week. Gasoline showed an average rise of 2 cents a gallon, bringing the average per-gallon price at a full-service station to 85.1 cents for regular, 91.6 cents for premium, and 89 cents for unleaded.

At a self-service pump, Kentuckians can expect to pay an average of 82.2 cents for a gallon of regular gas, 88.7 cents for premium and 89.6 cents for unleaded.

Diesel fuel continues to outpace gasoline in price rises, according to the auto club survey. After an average 2.7 cent-per-gallon increase over the last week, a gallon of diesel now sells for about 82.2 cents in Kentucky.

High diesel prices have prompted a truckers' protest in several parts of the country, with drivers blocking pumps and closing truck stops. No such incidents had been reported in Kentucky through Thursday, however.

As for the coming weeks, Stucker said Thursday that fuel and traffic-watchers "really can't tell what's going to happen."

Meanwhile, fuel-saving efforts continue in Kentucky's largest city. Louisville Mayor William Stansbury has traded in his full-size Lincoln Continental for a smaller Lincoln Versailles.

Alec Van Ryan, the mayor's press aide, said the change was part of a general City Hall cutback. But, Ryan said, the new car still befits the stature of the office.

The new Versailles gets estimated gas mileage of 14 miles per gallon, compared with the 11 of its predecessor.

Louisville Rotarians also have joined the move toward conservation. On Thursdays in the past, the hundreds of businessmen drove their cars to Zorn Avenue for their weekly Downtown Rotary Club meeting.

This week was different; 60 to 80 Rotarians rode together on a chartered Transit Authority of River City bus to their meeting. And they expected to save 40 to 45 gallons of gasoline by doing so.

Consumers May Get Food Break

the slight decline in retail meat prices, the Agriculture Department said.

Consumers with relatively smaller amounts of cash to spend also should dampen food store price hikes through the rest of the year, the department said.

The Labor Department reported that last month's decline in wholesale food prices was the biggest in more than three years. The monthly report said food prices declined 1.3 percent in May, led by a 6.9 percent decline in the price of beef and veal.

Prices paid to cattle producers have been dropping in recent months as shoppers have found greater supplies of pork and poultry available and have chosen to substitute them for beef on the dinner table, Agriculture Department specialists say.

The Agriculture Department's report on meat prices noted that a "slowing in the rate of growth in consumers' disposable income will moderate retail prices during the second half of 1979."

It said "retail beef prices (should) slow their rate of increase during the third quarter...and decline seasonally during the fall."

HERE'S HEALTH

By DR. BRYAN THACKER

The term "lumbago" is commonly used for any form of low back pain. Actually, lumbago is a form of rheumatism which can be caused by improper lifting, fatigue or over-exertion. It results in severe contraction of one or more of the large muscles of the low back area.

The lumbar vertebrae are supported by muscles and ligaments. Any unbalance of muscle strength may cause a misalignment of these lumbar vertebrae with resulting pain.

Modern chiropractic treatment is aimed at eliminating the cause of pain rather than treating symptoms. Phone for an appointment, your first step toward relief from pain.

Although Born in Acting Family

Noah Berry Does Not

Portray Actor Role

By JERRY BUCK

AP Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Chances are if you ever met Noah Berry and didn't know who he was, you'd never take him for an actor.

His skin is parched brown from the sun, the face craggy and weatherbeaten, his thin gray hair awry. His speech is homespun, and his clothes are more practical than fashionable.

He looks at home in the saddle or behind the wheel of a dusty pickup truck. Spend a minute with him and you know instinctively you're going to like him. All of which probably is at the heart of his longevity as an actor.

When he's not playing James Garner's father on NBC's "The Rockford Files," Berry's working on his 1,800-acre ranch near Tehachapi. And the 63-year-old Berry is more complicated than that.

He's also a sculptor whose western and wild life bronze pieces bring as much as $2,500, and he has what he calls a "major minor" collection of the works of western artist Charles Russell.

Berry was born into an acting family. His father was Noah Berry, one of the silent screen's most celebrated villains, and his mother was Marguerite Lindsay, a stage and silent screen actress. His uncle was Wallace Berry, one of MGM's top stars, noted for his gravelly voice as "The toughender" in "The Champ."

Noah Berry began as a child actor and his first substantial role was in the 1926 serial "Heroes of the West."

In all, he's made several serials, 130 movies, had countless television roles, and starred in five TV series.

"I worked with John Wayne in a serial in 1936 called 'The Three Musketeers,'" he says. "That shows how they'd take a popular title, whether it fit or not. We were in the Foreign Legion."

He had a major role with Wayne again in "Red River" in 1948, and says, "That was worth 20 movies."

Berry made two pictures with his father, "The Trail Beyond" and "Fighting with Kit Carson." His uncle gave him a role in "20 Mile
